Win one of eight places on a landscape photography workshop on England's northeastern coastline...

Mastering your landscape photography isn't easy. The best way to improve your Canon D-SLR skills and landscape photography is to receive hands-on professional tuition.

In this month's PhotoPlus competition, we're giving eight lucky readers the chance to spend a day's workshop (worth £115 per person) with Dimitri Vasiliou, a highly experienced Canon pro photographer who runs Earth's Beauty landscape photography courses and tours (www.earthsbeyoutours.com). You'll also meet fellow PhotoPlus readers, plus members of the PhotoPlus team, who will join you for the day.

The eight lucky winners will spend a full day on the beautiful Northumberland coastline learning new skills while photographing Bamburgh castle in its beautiful beachside setting. Dimitri caters for all skill levels, and his workshops are especially helpful to beginners and intermediates. The workshop starts on location in the morning, with tuition on composition, exposure, metering and focusing. After lunch (which is included), you'll put your new skills into practice, taking photos of this stunning area. The workshop will be held during the summer and all winners will need to be available on Saturday 12 June 2010.
